WELFARE OF TRANSGENDER PERSONS IN INDIA: SLEW OF MEASURES BY CENTRAL GOVERNMENT IN LAST THREE YEARS

UMBRELLA SCHEME ‘SMILE’ LAUNCHED IN 2022

Rs 365 Cr ALLOCATED FOR 5 YEARS for SMILE

Moving towards a Gender-inclusive society

(Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment)

June 30, 2022

For a very long time, the transgender community in India has lived at the fringes of society. It was only after the landmark ruling by the Supreme Court in 2014, popularly known as the NALSA judgement, that transgender persons were legally recognised as the ‘third gender’. The Government of India, over the course of years, has made consistent and significant efforts in designing and working towards a trans-inclusive society. Safeguarding the fundamental right - ‘to live life with dignity’ under Article 21 of the Constitution, this document looks into how some of the Central Government’s measures in the last few years have been furthering these rights of the community.

Status of Transgender Persons in India

The Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act, 2019 defines “Transgender person”, as a person whose gender does not match with the gender assigned to that person at birth and includes trans-man or trans-woman (whether or not such person has undergone Sex Reassignment Surgery or hormone therapy or laser therapy or such other therapy), person with intersex variations, genderqueer and person having such socio-cultural identities as kinner, hijra, aravani and jogta.

The transgender population had never been enumerated before 2011. The Registrar General of India (RGI), during the Enumeration of Census 2011, for the first time provided three codes i.e. Male-1, Female –2, and Others -3 for enumeration. Although the process had its own limitations, the Census (2011) recorded 4,87,803 individuals who identified themselves as being of a sex/gender ‘other’ than male or female.

Measures for Protection and Welfare of the Transgender Persons in India

Transgender persons have faced several issues of discrimination, historically, like exclusion from their families, absence of dignified livelihoods, and inadequate access to health, shelter, welfare, and employment.
The Central government has enacted and issued several welfare acts and rules to address these issues for the provision of identity, education, shelter, livelihood, skill development, and protection of rights against the community, which are mentioned below:

The Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act 2019

The Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act 2019 seeks to mitigate the stigma, discrimination, and abuse against this marginalized section and bring them into the mainstream of society. It will lead to greater inclusiveness and will make Transgender persons productive members of society.¹

The Bill has the following provisions:

i. Non-discrimination against a Transgender person in educational institutions, employment, healthcare services etc.

ii. Recognition of identity of Transgender persons and confer upon them the right to self-perceived gender identity.

iii. Provision of the Right of Residence with parents and immediate family members.

iv. Provision for the formulation of welfare schemes and programmes for education, social security, and health of Transgender persons.

v. Provision for National Council for Transgender Persons to advise, monitor, and evaluate measures for the protection of their rights.

The Act is designed to make all the stakeholders responsive and accountable for upholding the principles underlying the same. It also brings greater accountability on the part of the Central Government and State Governments/Union Territories Administrations for issues concerning Transgender persons.

Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Rules, 2020

The Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Rules, 2020 were formulated and published in the Gazette of India on September 29, 2020. The rules seek to recognise the identity of transgenders and prohibit discrimination in the fields of education, employment, healthcare, holding or disposing of property, holding public or private office, and access to and use of public services and benefits.

National Council for Transgender Persons

In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 16 of the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act, 2019, the Central Government constituted a National Council for Transgender Persons on 21st August 2020. The Union Minister of Social Justice & Empowerment is the Chairperson (ex-officio) and the Union Minister of State for Social Justice & Empowerment is the Vice-Chairperson (ex-officio) of the council.

The National Council performs the following functions:

Empowerment of Transgender Persons through Education

The Indian education system and successive government policies have made steady progress towards bridging gender and social category gaps in all levels of school education. Several other measures are being taken to focus on socio-economically disadvantaged groups that have been historically underrepresented in education.

National Education Policy 2020

The National Education Policy of India 2020 (NEP 2020), approved by the Union Cabinet of India on July 29, 2020, outlines the vision of new education system of India. The Policy aims at universalization of education from preschool to secondary a level with 100 % Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) in school education by 2030.

NEP 2020 identifies transgender children as Socio-Economically Disadvantaged Groups (SEDGs) and provides for equitable quality education, inter-alia, for all such students. This includes provisions for assisting transgender children in gaining access to education, and support for community-based interventions that address local context-specific barriers to transgender children’s access to and participation in education, thereby aiming to eliminate any remaining disparity in access to education (including vocational education) for children from any gender or other SEDGs.

A ‘Gender-Inclusion Fund’ will be constituted under the new policy to build the nation’s capacity to provide equitable quality education for all girls as well as transgender students. The fund will be available to States to implement priorities determined by the Central government critical for assisting female and transgender children in gaining access to education (such as the provisions of sanitation and toilets, bicycles, conditional cash transfers, etc.); funds will also enable States to support and scale effective community-based interventions that address local context-specific barriers to female and transgender children’s access to and participation in education.

community in Patna, Bihar, wherein approx. 3700 transgender persons received the masks.

Other major steps towards trans-inclusivity:

1. In 2016, the Ministry of Railways introduced a third gender column in its reservation form and included transgender as an option in railway ticket forms. Previously, the column had only male and female columns.

2. The Ministry of Rural Development implements the National Social Assistance Programme (NSAP), a Centrally Sponsored Scheme that provides financial assistance to the elderly, widows and persons with disabilities in the form of social pensions. Under the same, 3,384 Transgender persons are being provided monthly pension.

3. In April 2020, the Ministry of Personnel asked all the central ministries and departments to modify relevant examination rules and application forms to include ‘transgender’ as a separate category for all the central government jobs.

Extra-ordinary Exemplars

With these legal developments and the society slowly moving towards more trans-inclusivity, there are many stories emerging everyday of transgender persons breaking barriers and becoming experts in their fields. Some of their stories are mentioned below:

---

Narthaki Nataraj (Transwoman)
Padma Shri Awardee and a renowned Bharatnatyam Dancer

Narthaki Nataraj, a renowned Bharatnatyam dancer from Tamil Nadu, was the first transgender person to be conferred with the prestigious Padma Shri Award in the year 2019. Born in a remote village in Tamil Nadu in 1964, Nataraj ran away from her home at the age of 11 due to the backlash received from her family due to her ‘effeminate’ nature. Soon, she found her Bharatnatyam Guru, Kittappa Pillai in Thanjavur where her journey into the dance form began. Before receiving the Padma Shri, she had also received a Senior Fellowship from the Department of Culture, Government of India in 2014. She is a recipient of the Kalaimamani award, given by the Tamil Nadu government, and in 2016, she received an honorary doctorate from Periyar Maniammai University. She runs the Velliambalam Trust School of Dance, a Bharatanatyam dance school in Chennai.17

Dr. Aqsa Shaikh (Transwoman)
Doctor of Community Medicine and Associate Professor at Hamdard Institute of Medical Science and Research, Delhi

Hailing from Mumbai, Dr. Aqsa is the only transgender specialist in community medicine. She is a senior faculty member at Hamdard Institute of Medical Science and Research, Delhi (HIMSAR). During her childhood, she suffered from severe depression and suicidal tendencies due to the gender identity issues and societal pressure to fit into the gender assigned to her, but her motivation to pursue MBBS helped her to overcome these severe mental health issues. With her medical qualification in the field of Community Medicine, she contributed to the battle against the Covid-19 pandemic as in-charge of Covid-19 surveillance at the institute’s hospital. She now heads a Covid-19 vaccination centre.18

Born in Kerala in a middle class family, Vihaan faced challenging times growing up trying to adjust in the gender roles of a woman. Realising his identity as a trans-man in his early 20’s, his journey of medical transitioning into a man took years of efforts. With a degree in Masters of Science in communication and an advanced diploma in Globalization and Human Rights, Vihaan co-founded the first community-based organization for trans men in Kerala and was appointed as an expert committee member in India’s first National Council for Transgender Persons in 2020. He continues to advocate for transgender and queer rights at various forums in India and globally.19

Way Forward:

With the legal recognition, policy support and the transgender community being identified under the SEDGs, the movement for inclusion and acceptance of transgender persons has received a strong backing in India. Further, it is the responsibility of each individual at all micro and macro levels to create a ‘gender inclusive’ environment around them at their households, workplaces and other institutions. With more awareness, empathy and a welcoming attitude we can pave the way for a country, in rainbow colours, where we respect, support, and celebrate the engagement, expression, and well-being of all members of the LGBTQIA+ community.
